Easter at HIVE

Ciao! I did write a long authors note for this but then fanfiction *_deleted it _(side note 'nooo'). Basically what I said was sorry that I haven't updated anything because I somehow managed to get writers block on everything, don't ask I dont know either. Anyway happy Easter and this fic is dedicated to the first person to review!

The eggs. Nero was in turmoil. Today was Easter, a festival like all others at H.I.V.E. was never considered. However today everyone had woken up to a school full of full sized Easter eggs. They were everywhere, heaped in every nook and cranny, scattered around the corridors. The staff had been frantically scooping up eggs since four o'clock in the morning, every one of the guards had been off duty. Still the school was full of them and it was only five minutes till the students woke up.
